access-reject of wireless clients by IS... - Cisco Community

Hi buddies, I've deployed WLC 5508 equipped to AirOS 8.2.100 along with ISE 2.0 as its AAA server. Also I joined the ISE with Active Directory 2012. On the WLC I've created one SSID with Dot1x+WPA2 as its security method.

802.1X Authentication failed without 80... - Cisco Community

on the security tab on the WLC and it looks like we are still getting the same messages I am leary about disabling the wireless protection policies client exclusions for security reason but I am thinking that is the solution to the problem, it seems it just ignores the failures.

What is a MAC Address?

On wireless networks, a process called MAC filtering is a security measure to prevent unwanted network access by hackers and intruders. In MAC address filtering, the router is configured to accept traffic only from specific MAC addresses. This way, computers whose MAC addresses are approved will be able to communicate through the network even if they were given a new IP address by DHCP.
