My daughter read and re-read this book when she was about 11 years old. She kept telling me about the two "Zoe's" and how fantastic the story was so I decided to read it too. I was totally caught up in the story! The ghost story combined with time travel really appealed to me - but more than anything else, Pam Conrad (may she rest in peace) knows a child's heart - and ultimately, it is her themes of friendship and love, coupled with longing and loss that makes this book extraordinary.

This was another book that I read over and over when I was young. I think I got it from a book fair, and I loved it. The ghost story was creepy enough to give me goosebumps on the 23rd read-through, but not scary enough to give me nightmares.

I am an adult and I came across it at some point recently and really wanted to read it, because it is a ghost story and because it involves a, sort of, time phenomenon. Due to it's juvenile nature, I read it in 2 sittings and thought it lacked important character background and development. However, I put myself back in time and entered my own 12 year old head and judged the book on those terms as best I could. Loved it. It surprised me. It was creepy and quite memorable.
